President's Message

The key challenge before UCCI is facilitating the growth and development of trade and industry in Southern Rajasthan. We believe that prosperity in the region can be achieved by a vibrant and growing industrial and service sector. While the Government of India and the Government of Rajasthan both operate many programmes and initiatives to bring new, greenfield investments, we have found that growing the existing industrial base can deliver far better results at a much lower cost to the exchequer.

Immediately after the new UCCI Executive Committee took office, we started an industrial outreach programme focussed on micro and small entrepreneurs. Our prime objective was to learn first-hand how we could help local entrepreneurs in growing their business. Our key finding was that micro enterprises face entirely different issues / hinderances to growth compared to small enterprises. In hindsight, we should not have been surprised at this finding.

Thus started our journey to equip UCCI to support entrepreneurs in the best way possible. Micro entrepreneurs, nearly always a one person show, spend 50-60% of their time chasing after various government permissions and renewals. This, because it seems a fruitless pursuit, is not only frustrating for entrepreneurs but also leaves them no time to think about growth. It also saps their confidence in making further investments for growth. To address this issue UCCI has taken two key steps:

1. It is in the process of having a help desk that entrepreneurs can access via the new upcoming UCCI website and seek proper procedural guidance.
2. We continue to raise the issues relating to ease of doing business with various government bodies and officers.

We have also started a series of initiatives to help entrepreneurs in developing their own skills and opening their minds to making the journey of growing from micro to small, small to medium etc. While details of our various activities are described in this newsletter, the main initiatives involving Learning from Each Other, Learning from Experts, and Aao Factory Dekhen that engage entrepreneurs and members of their teams. Our challenge remains getting more engagement from entrepreneurs for these programmes.

At the last AGM, UCCI approved a constitution amendment that allowed the formation of Standing Committees to manage activities of a long-term nature. The longer tenure of these committees and their leadership should allow continuity of thought and action and the activities will not be disrupted by the annual change of leadership of UCCI. This initiative, though still new, is already proving its worth.

- The Environment and Industrial Waste Management Standing Committee has brought the working of our Hazardous Waste Management facility on an even keel where routine activities are well managed. As a result it is now able to look towards new activities such as expansion of the facilities and adding new waste management facilities for the industries of Rajasthan.
- The Excellence Awards Standing Committee agreed and adopted a standard operating procedure for not only for the impartial and merit based selection of winners in various award categories, but also the process that can be operated to a defined schedule consistently and easily.
- The Vocational Training Standing Committee, too has made progress by appointing staff to ensure not only that the work starts well, but it keeps running smoothly thereafter.
- The Information Technology Standing Committee has made major investments in upgrading the audio-visual facilities in our main meeting venues and the new IT system and website are now close to launch. These initiatives will ensure that UCCI will be able to serve its members more effectively while remaining a lean organisation,

This year we chose to have fewer sub-committees of UCCI give them a wider remit of activities. I am happy to state that each of the sub-committees have been quite active and are delivering to their expectations. But for their efforts, we would not have made the progress that we have achieved.

The UCCI Secretariat under the leadership of our CEO, Col Narendra Singh Shaktawat is also settling down to a reasonable level of maturity. Most key operating processes, guided as they should be by the Office Bearers, are now being run smoothly by the team. Effective processes, a strong operating team supported by good IT systems are the key to the future of the UCCI.

While we have been sending to you monthly reports on the various activities of UCCI, I am delighted at the publication of this UCCI Business Newsletter that summarises all our activities to date. I hope you will enjoy reading it.

Rooftop' DEVANIYA' a corporate lounge

A world class corporate 5000 sq Ft lounge on the second floor of UCCI awaits networking meetings and dining. Its ecofriendly concern sets an example of our responsibility of using maximum natural light and air. It is doubtlessly a unique concept in a chamber & Industrial area.

UCCI Environment Park landscaping project

45512 Sq ft. lush green garden area is in its development phase 2. Where in following facilities are being added: - Wet land, Nursery, 9000 sq ft temporary exhibition hall, service area of 4000 Sq ft and a new kitchen space with outdoor sitting. The parking area with paved flooring duly equipped with sensor parking mechanism is also under development.

UCCI Website Redesign Project

To incorporate new technology requirements and automate tasks which will augment the capacity of the secretariat, the website redesign project was green lit under the expert guidance of president Shri Sanjaya Singhal. This project will introduce a completely new portal with advanced features which will enhance the service delivery of the Chamber to its members. Expect to receive more streamlined and timely information along with more business critical services.

Plantation Campaign duly Maintained

UCCI planted more than 3400 trees in RIICO industrial areas of Madri, Kaladwas, Gudli and Sukher. The aim was greening of industrial areas to reduce dust and pollution. Local plant varieties were chosen to account for the arid environment and harsh geography. These trees were planted with the support of RIICO and Forest Department. To ensure survivability of these trees, a 2 year maintenance contract has been signed. Philanthropic donations from UCCI members made this possible.

UCCI Excellence Awards 2023

Vision for the Excellence Awards

The awards seek to measure key performance indicators that reflect business performance and potential. In addition, as a catalyst, the environment we desire is a network that is supported by an infrastructure (physical and learning resources) that allows reflection, awareness (of our business and the knowledge outside it), openness (to talk about our difficulties and be open to new ideas) and support. This will enable the business community to retain its vitality through generational changes while remaining true to business ethics and supporting the community at large.
